Telehealth is not suitable for use in every situation; you must rely on your own judgment and the judgment of your health care provider to determine whether, in any given case, telehealth is an appropriate form of care. Similarly, not every patient will realize the same results. FCT is happy to provide information for you regarding its methods and philosophy, and of course you are welcome to seek advice from those you trust, but in the end only you and your provider can analyze the benefits and limitations of telehealth in general and of FCT's services in particular.
